

SURVEY

How is Open Science practised in Czechia?

Are you a researcher based in Czechia? We are keen to learn how Open Science is implemented in practice – from publishing in Open Access, to data sharing, institutional support, and the extent to which Open Science principles are reflected in research careers.

SHARE YOUR EXPERIENCE!

Take part in a short, anonymous survey and help us map the current state of Open Science within Czech research organisations. Your insights will help identify both barriers and opportunities to better support researchers.

🕒 The survey takes approximately 15 minutes to complete.

🎯 It is open to researchers across all disciplines and career stages.

🔒 The questionnaire is anonymous, and all responses will be processed in aggregate form.

🗺️ The findings will be used to formulate recommendations for the coordinated development of Open Science in Czechia and to propose systemic measures at the national level.
